museum, its exhibitions, educational offerings and unique mission continues to grow. "Our guests have loved what they've been able to experience and learn here, but they're eager to see even more," Crews said. "With the new expansion, we'll have additional room for our popular exhibitions as well as increased space for our diverse collections and research. We cannot thank the James family enough for making this possible."

Quilt House opened its current 37,000-square-foot building in 2008 with three exhibition galleries and state-of-the-art textiles storage as an international focal point for the study, conservation and exhibition of quilts. The modern, environmentally friendly building was designed by world renowned Robert A.M. Stern Architects of New York with local architects Alley Poyner Macchietto Architecture of Omaha. The same architects will design the new addition.

The $12 million facility was privately funded with more than 260 contributions to the University of Nebraska Foundation, including a leadership gift from the Robert and Ardis James Foundation. More than 130 quilt guilds, as well as quilt organizations in six other countries, provided gifts toward the building campaign.

The International Quilt Study Center within Quilt House was founded in 1997 when Nebraska natives Ardis and Robert James began donating their extensive quilt collection and have since donated more than 1,000 quilts.

Ardis M. Butler James grew up in Lincoln and Omaha, Neb., and married Robert G. James of Ord, Neb., in 1949. They raised three children, Robert Jr., Catherine and Ralph, and made their home in Chappaqua, N.Y. Ardis James died on July 7, 2011.

Quilt House, 1523 North 33rd Street, is open 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays and 1 to 4 p.m. Sundays; closed Mondays and major holidays. Admission is $6 for adults (over 18); $3 for non-UNL students with ID and children; $12 for families (up to two adults with their children and grandchildren); free for children under 4, museum members, and UNL faculty, staff and students with ID. By making new quilts inspired by those their fore-mothers supposedly had made, women felt that they were participating not only in tradition, but in history itself. Perfecting the Past presents the inspirations for Colonial Revival style quilts.

IQSCM ANNOUNCES INTERIM DIRECTOR APPOINTMENT

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln is pleased to announce the appointment of Alice Kinsler as the International Quilt Study Center & Museum's interim executive director beginning August 5th. "It's an incredible honor to serve as the interim executive director of the IQSC&M and to help with the search for a permanent full-time executive director," Kinsler said.

"We anticipate that the IQSCM's reputation for excellence, encouragement of scholarship, its remarkable collection and striking building will attract a high level of candidates" said Michael James, Chair of the Textiles, Merchandising & Fashion Design Department (TMFD), who will oversee the search process.

Founding Director Patricia Cox Crews ends her 16-year tenure on August 3rd. She will assist Kinsler during a transition period, and plans to return to full-time teaching and research in TMFD, where she has been a faculty member since 1984. "The IQSCM is an extraordinary museum and research center, and Crews has done a fine job preparing it for a new director to lead the museum in it's next phase of development," said Marjorie Kosteninik, Dean of the College of Education and Human Services (CEHS).

Alice Kinsler graduated from Ball State University in Indiana in 1870, and holds master degrees in human relations from Golden Gate University in San Francisco (1984) and in textile history with a quilt studies emphasis from UNL (2007). She served as the president and chief executive officer of Hospice Foundation in Monterey, California from 1998 until her retirement in June 2013. As it's first chief executive, Kinsler, 65, started the organization's grant program to fund local hospice care and other services for people at the end of life in Monterey and San Benito counties. In October 2012, Hospice Foundation awarded $1.4 million to 12 local nonprofits, bringing to $20 million the total awarded locally during Kinsler's tenure.

Before that, Kinsler served nine years as director of the Salinas Valley Memorial Hospital Foundation, four years as associate director of Community Foundation for Monterey County and prior to that development director of the Carmel Bach Festival.

"As we move forward in our executive search for the museum's next director, Alice's experience in administration, management, communications and development will be an immense asset. Her appointment will provide strong transitional leadership for the museum," said Michael James.

A PRAIRIE HOMECOMING & SWEET MEMORIES

Have you ever thought of using a quilt for a protest? In 1988, the NSQG members did just that! At the 1988 QuiltNebraska convention, in an effort to cut costs, the traditional desserts were not served. Following that event, Lois Gottsch spearheaded a project to collect “Dessert” quilt blocks from NSQG Board members and QuiltNebraska Chairmen. So many quilt blocks were donated that two dessert quilts were created!

At the 1989 QuiltNebraska convention, the quilts were put on poles and paraded to the podium where Sara Dillow and Judy McClure (and possibly one other) were waiting. As the quilts were presented, I can imagine the members rising to their feet, cheering and clapping with laughter ringing out through the banquet room and into the hallways. Can't you?

At the next convention in Grand Island, the idea continued. Lois Gottsch and committee members had sewn and stuffed little canvas bags with chocolate kisses. These candy bags were passed out to anyone needing a “chocolate fix”. Elinor Peace Bailey, the guest speaker, even threw out chocolate kisses from the podium!

Desserts have been served at QuiltNebraska since that time...

NSQG has possession of one of the dessert quilts and will display it at QuiltNebraska 2013. Please stop by, take time to read the message, and view the names of our magnificent quilt makers.

On Saturday, July 28, 2012 at the 27th annual meeting of the Nebraska State Quilt Guild (NSQG), in LaVista, area quilters were honored during the evening banquet. This six people and two guilds were carefully vetted by a committee of nine women from across the state and deemed worthy of the Nebraska State Quilt Guild's highest honors.

The Friendship Star was awarded to volunteer Patricia Varner of Bellevue for her creative and organizational abilities in planning the three and a half day event of 40+ classes taught by 6 nationally known and 20 Nebraska teachers, and activities that covered everything from historical aspects to the latest tools and techniques of quilts.

Susan Weber of Lincoln was honored with the Radian Star for her organizational efforts in the making of a quilt that commemorates the 150th anniversary of the National Homestead Act. Both the Mother's Guild of Boys Town and the Quilters Quilt Club of Shelby were also given the Radiant Star for the multitude of quilts they have made for many years, in support of their respective local communities.

For their recent and noteworthy contributions to the art of quilt making, Amanda Benz of Kearney, and Jan Hibbs of Smithfield were awarded the Silver Thread. Both women not only make award winning quilts, but are teachers who encourage others to either start or expand on quilt making skills. Amanda and Jan are also extremely busy volunteering their "quilt time" to the betterment of their local and state wide communities in a variety of ways.

Peg Pennell who recently moved from Omaha to Ashland has been a very popular teacher, award winning quilt maker and fiber artist for over 25 years. For her consistent and great contributions to quilt making, Peg was honored with the Golden Thread Award.

The most prestigious award given by the Nebraska State Quilt Guild, the Hall of Fame award is not given out every year, but only on the occasion of a truly worthy individual. This year we recognize Dianne Duncan Thomas of Omaha who is a founding mother of the Nebraska State Quilt Guild in 1985, and has never tired in her efforts to support the Guild and all aspects of quilting. Her prize winning quilts have been seen at the State Fair, and have been successful fund raisers. She is constantly involved in guild leadership positions, is a teacher, a promoter, in fund raising and in any way to encourage the art of quilt making. She is President of the Friends of the International Quilt Study Center in Lincoln, one of many chairpersons for QNE 2012, and is involved in numerous other quilt organizations. In honor of her mother, Dianne and family donated the sculpture in front of the International Quilt Study Center. She has successfully devoted nearly 30 years to promote quilting.

The Nebraska State Quilt Guild wishes to congratulate these people for their generous contributions to the art of quilt making.

Special Recognition: Sandra Kosch awarded two additional Award Certificates to Jan Stehlik for her winning design of the Homestead Act of 1862 quilt project (Susan Weber accepted it for Jan due to Jan's absence) and Shelly Burge for her winning design of the Governor's Mansion Quilt Project. Also Merikay Berg received an Award Certificate as the Sole Quilter of the Governor's Mansion Quilt Project when the quilt was unveiled at the Governor's Mansion on August 11, 2012. Merikay was absent at the Annual Meeting.

Quote from MY ANTONIA by Willa Cather: "It was a beautiful blue morning. The buffalo-peas were blooming in pink and purple masses along the roadside, and the larks, perched on last year's dried sunflower stalks, were singing straight at the sun, their heads thrown back and their yellow breasts a-quiver. The wind blew around us in warm, sweet gusts."

By-Laws and Policies: Report by Fay Kliewer. The By-Laws and Policies and Procedures have been reorganized and are now available for viewing on the NSQG website.

Education: Sheila Green reported that Discover Nebraska has again been the focus for NSQG Education this year. There have been great successes with many communities offering Discover Nebraska presentations to their fourth graders.

This past year, presentations have been held in Lincoln, Seward, Wahoo, Gothenburg, and Gordon. About 50 volunteers have been involved!

In the 2011-2012 school year, the Lincoln Quilters Guild group presented in 38 schools (about 2,840 Children) children in Lincoln and the surrounding area, including Waverly, Syracuse, Conestoga, Louisville, Raymond Central at Valparaiso, and Eagle. We are also offering presentations at the International Quilt Study Center and Museum. This may be of interest to schools outside the Lincoln area as they come to Lincoln for field trips. There is a grant available from the Nebraska Arts Council that can cover busing and museum admission.

Sheila spoke about Discover Nebraska at the Plum Creek Quilt Guild meeting in Lexington for their Guest Night, to encourage their members to begin Discover Nebraska in their community.

An education display was provided and staffed at the Original Quilt and Sew Expo at Pershing Auditorium in Lincoln last fall.

My goal is to continue training individuals and guilds to start Discover Nebraska presentations in their communities. I have NSQG Discover Nebraska Quilts that can be lent to all. Contact me for complete packets of information to get you started, including master copies of all needed classroom materials.

Library Project: Report included. Janalee Petsch reported that Freemotion Quilting by award winning Nebraska author Judy Woodworth, was chosen as the 2012 selection for the NSQG Library Project. Criteria for selection included: a subject that had not been covered in recent years, consider how new the title is, and select a Nebraska author if possible. Judy's quilt, Avatar Revisited, won the APQS Longarm Machine Quilting Award at the most recent AQS Show in Paducah, KY. This book selection proved to be a popular choice.

Budget for the 2012 Library Project was $3900.

Expenses were:

Books (free shipping from publisher)	$3136.98
Supplies (envelopes, labels)	$87.80
Postage (Library rate mail)	$679.15
Total Expenses	$3903.93

The book was mailed to 290 Nebraska Public Libraries, with a cover letter included with each book explaining the NSQG Library Project plus directions to the NSQG website for more information. A reply card was designed requesting the library to respond with YES, we add the quilting book to our collection and would like to continue to receive a book each year, or NO, we are unable to use the books and would like to be dropped from the list. Libraries were given the option of replying by email, or by returning the card through postal mail. Of the 290 libraries, 136 responded to far – 125 gave a definite YES, with many comments on how the libraries appreciated the book and that their patrons looked forward to it each year. Eleven libraries have indicated NO, they do not wish to be a part of the NSQG Library Project. Those libraries have been noted and will be removed from the mail list next year.

Recommendations for 2013: A yearly reply card does not seem necessary, but perhaps in another five years or so it would be useful to ask again. Also, recommended to continue the NSQG Library Project, sending a book to every library except those requesting to be dropped.

Communications – master of the details, Susan Smith, white glove chairman, Noelle Hooper, chairman for hanging and take-down of the quilts, the many people I have asked for advice, and all the volunteers we will soon see at the fair. Many of you do this year after year because of your love of quilting and dedication to this wonderful Nebraska tradition. We estimate that more than 900 volunteer hours are required to make it all happen. My final word – Enter a quilt, become a volunteer, and of course come see the 2012 Nebraska State Fair.

Threads 2011 had 851 guests with 32 vendors. One vendor from Missouri complimented us on the quality of the show. They were impressed with the quilts we had. Quilts of Valor was also represented. Being in a new facility was fun; we learned what to do again this year and what to change. The vendors appreciated being able to drive up to their booth to unload their merchandise.

Cathy Richardson has been helping with the publicity for this year. We have gotten brochures to the county fairs that are in a 100 mile radius to the show. If you want or need posters to take to your county fair or your guild, please stop and get some. At this time we have 27 vendors and a few quilts registered. We had over 322 registrations; we had combinations of two-day, and one-day registrations. We had folks just taking in a lecture. Six national teachers and 24 Nebraska teachers, vendor mall contest which the vendors had a real good time at. We had wonderful sponsors – one person who went above and beyond – Cindy Scheinost. The convention website will be up for a while yet. Pictures and video were done by LaVonne and Mike Dunetts – really appreciate them. Channel 3 interviewed Pat and Sandra and were on TV on Friday. Sent out press releases. The registration for QNE 2013 that Pat earned was awarded to Mary Wrowinski.

Back to next year, we hope you will travel to Concordia University in the small town of Seward, just 25 miles west of Lincoln. Once there our plan is to "sew a seed and watch it grow". We will have plenty of instructors there to help us. Spend Quilt History Day with Terry Thompson to start your weekend. NATIONAL QUILTING DAY 2013

National Quilting Day 2013, our fourth annual event, was held at the International Quilt Study Center and Museum on Saturday, March 16. The FREE admission event was planned and sponsored by the Lincoln Quilters Guild and the Nebraska State Quilt Guild. Our commercial sponsors were Handi Quilter and the Bernina Sewing Studio of Lincoln.

We were pleased to greet 667 visitors and volunteers this year, a result of excellent offerings and diligent publicity. The event ran very smoothly. The ever popular lectures included Shelly Burge, (quilt designer/author), “Not Your Grandmother’s String Piecing,” Jay Rich (fiber artist), “Indigo Dyeing,” Marin Hanson (IQSCM Curator of Exhibitions), “Posing with Patchwork,”

and Molly Anderson
“Contemporary Quilted Textiles.”

Demonstrations included “Document Your Quilts” and “You Quilt with WHAT?” The featured outreach project was Discover Nebraska. The 20+ quilts used in the 4th grade classrooms hung from the museum’s rails. Additional quilts belonged to committee members. Guests could sit and relax while viewing PowerPoint presentations about Lincoln Quilters Guild and the Nebraska State Quilt Guild. The museum’s third floor was dedicated to a hands on activity where guests participated in “Let’s Learn How to Piece a Quilt” and viewed demonstrations of the various types of “Hand Work.” Docents interacted with guests in the galleries to view the current quilt exhibitions.

Nebraska State Quilt Guild members sold 272 raffle quilt tickets.

Our handouts are available on the LQG and NSQG’s websites:

www.LincolnQuiltersGuild.org and www.NSQG.org

Thanks to all who volunteered and attended. We had visitors from across the state of Nebraska plus 14 additional states and South Korea.

Watch for upcoming details about next year’s event!
